

Many dialysis centres offer post transplant support. Kidney dialysis users who go on to have a transplant still need help - having a transplant can be an emotionally, physically and mentally draining time.

If you have had a transplant make sure that you discuss support options available through your centre or visit the post transplant support section in the Global Dialysis Forum.